Academic Rheumatologist

Responsibilities
The successful applicant is accountable to the Chief/Chair of the Division in fulfilling the mission, vision and goals of the Department, the Hospital and the Faculty, in particular as they relate to the Division of Rheumatology.

The Division of Rheumatology is a division of 10 members. The Division provides exemplary care to patients with a wide variety of musculoskeletal and autoimmune diseases as well as service to the Champlain LHIN, and outreach care to patients in Baffin Island. The Division is focusing on the development of priority programs including Advanced Therapeutics and Systemic Autoimmune Rheumatic Diseases including rheumatoid arthritis, lupus, scleroderma, vasculitis and Sjogren’s syndrome.

Qualifications
The successful applicant must possess RCPSC certification or equivalent; be licensed to practice medicine in Ontario, certified in Rheumatology; be a member of the Canadian Medical Protective Association; and be eligible for an University of Ottawa academic appointment at the rank of Assistant Professor or higher. Experience teaching medical students and residents is preferred.

Job Benefits
Health and welfare benefits including extended health, dental and disability insurance as well as life insurance are offered to full-time physicians.

The city of Ottawa provides a thriving multicultural and bilingual environment. Ottawa boasts numerous cultural activities as well as readily accessible sporting and natural resources, making it an ideal family and healthy living environment.

The Department of Medicine is committed to ensuring equity, diversity and inclusion in our work environment. We strongly encourage applications from Indigenous persons, visible minorities members (racialized persons), persons with disabilities, women, members of the LGBTQ2+ community as well as from all qualified candidates with the skills and knowledge to productively engage with equitable, diverse and inclusive communities.

Upon request, accommodations due to a disability are available throughout the selection process.

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadian citizens and permanent residents will be given priority.
